Advanced CBT for psychosis training

February 25th & 26th 2021

Via live Zoom Webinar

Course Instructor: Sally E. Riggs, DClInPsy

Have you attended a previous training in Full formulation driven CBTp and spent some time working with clients, ideally with case consultation? Looking to take your competence to the next level with schema and core belief change, work with complex cases such as command hallucinations or dual diagnosis PTSD or thinking about the integration of third wave techniques? Then this workshop is for you!

Who can attend: licensed mental health professionals, those with a limited permit, or students currently enrolled in a licensure qualifying graduate program. Participants must have completed an initial 3-day workshop in Full CBT for psychosis. Participants must also be prepared to bring case material pertaining to at least one 'complex case' with whom they are currently working to discuss during the workshop.

Training format:

The training will entail 2 days of workshops delivered by Zoom webinar plus optional 6 months of ongoing consultation.

3. Demonstrate how to share a formulation effectively with a patient
4. Differentiate between the different levels of cognitions: negative automatic thoughts, schema and core beliefs as they pertain to psychosis

5. Select specific interventions for schema change as informed by the specific formulation
6. Demonstrate effective interventions for schema change

Teaching methods:

The workshop will include didactic material, interactive exercises, role-plays, video material, whole group brainstorming and discussion.

Ongoing consultation:

After attending the 2-day training, licensed clinicians have the option of ongoing weekly case consultation in person or via teleconference, with monthly review of audio or video session recordings using the CTS-R (James, Blackburn & Reichelt, 2001). Follow-up consultation with tape review is required to gain competence as a CBTp therapist and to become accredited by the Academy of Cognitive Therapy. It is also highly recommended for practice change for all therapists. However it does not convey any continuing educating credits.
